"The SnapTable will address all the issues that contractors commonly face when prepping a metal roof panel for installation. The SnapTable allows you to clip the ribs, slit the panel, and hem the edge much, MUCH quicker and more accurately than traditional methods. On a recent project we completed, over 300 panels were needed and almost every one required either a hip cut or valley cut or both. Watch the videos online, crunch your numbers, this table works exactly like you think it will, probably better. The table is built very well and is incredibly strong. The notchers will spit out a 1.5" 24 gauge rib like its nothing. On a recent 9,800 sq ft job we completed, I am confident that we covered more than half the cost of our SnapTable with savings in labor alone. Bottom line is that purchasing a SnapTable will allow your company to do higher quality work and do it faster than you ever thought possible. It is a must have for any contractor serious about installing high quality metal roofing and will give you the edge you need to separate yourself from the pack."
